"Madison Avenue Water Main Replacement"

City of Norfolk Engineering Division received notice from the contractor for the Madison Avenue water main replacement project that it will begin Wednesday morning, August 24th, 2016.

A water main is being replaced under Madison Avenue from First Street to Seventh Street with work expected to continue until the end of November.

The project will begin at First Street and Madison Avenue and will be phased so that multiple adjacent intersections will not be closed at one time. Phasing will be such that the north and south traffic on First Street will be maintained all times.

The water improvements are being made by Robert Woehler and Sons Construction of Wayne, Nebraska for a cost of $750,000 – the lowest bid for the project.

John Heine, Staff Engineer, advises people to use caution along Madison Avenue and its intersections and to be aware of any increased alley traffic in the area.
