“Library Foundation Book Sale”

Over 10,000 books will be available for sale this weekend in the Norfolk City Auditorium at 127 North 1st Street. The Norfolk Library Foundation, a non-profit organization, is sponsoring the large book sale with all proceeds going towards the Foundation that provides supplemental funding to the Norfolk Public Library for programs and services.

“We have a great selection of books including children’s books, large coffee table type picture books, fiction, non-fiction, classics and best-sellers,” said Renee McClymont, chair of the book sale.

Hours for the sale are: Friday, October 10, from 3:30 pm to 7:00 pm; Saturday, October 11, from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm; and Sunday, October 12, from 12:00 pm to 3:00 pm.

Hardcover books are $2. Larger paperback books are $1 and pocketbook paperbacks are 25 cents. Audio books on CD are $2. DVDs are $1. All children’s books are 50 cents. On Sunday bags of books will be sold for a reduced price.

“Many of the books are ones that we’ve weeded from the shelves because we have no room for them. Others people have donated. It’s a great opportunity to get a good deal on a book,” said Jessica Chamberlain, Director of the Norfolk Public Library.
